Teaching to a T: KAEA Style - Building Relationships and the Four Challenges

Imagine an exciting interactive activity that lets you learn about yourself as you learn about the challenges that youth and young adults must face. The risk factors the students face involve sex, drugs and violence, including bullying, and the challenges adults and educators must face to be effective. Learn about the four C's: caring, communicating, collaborating, and working with different cultures as it relates to the adult education classroom.
